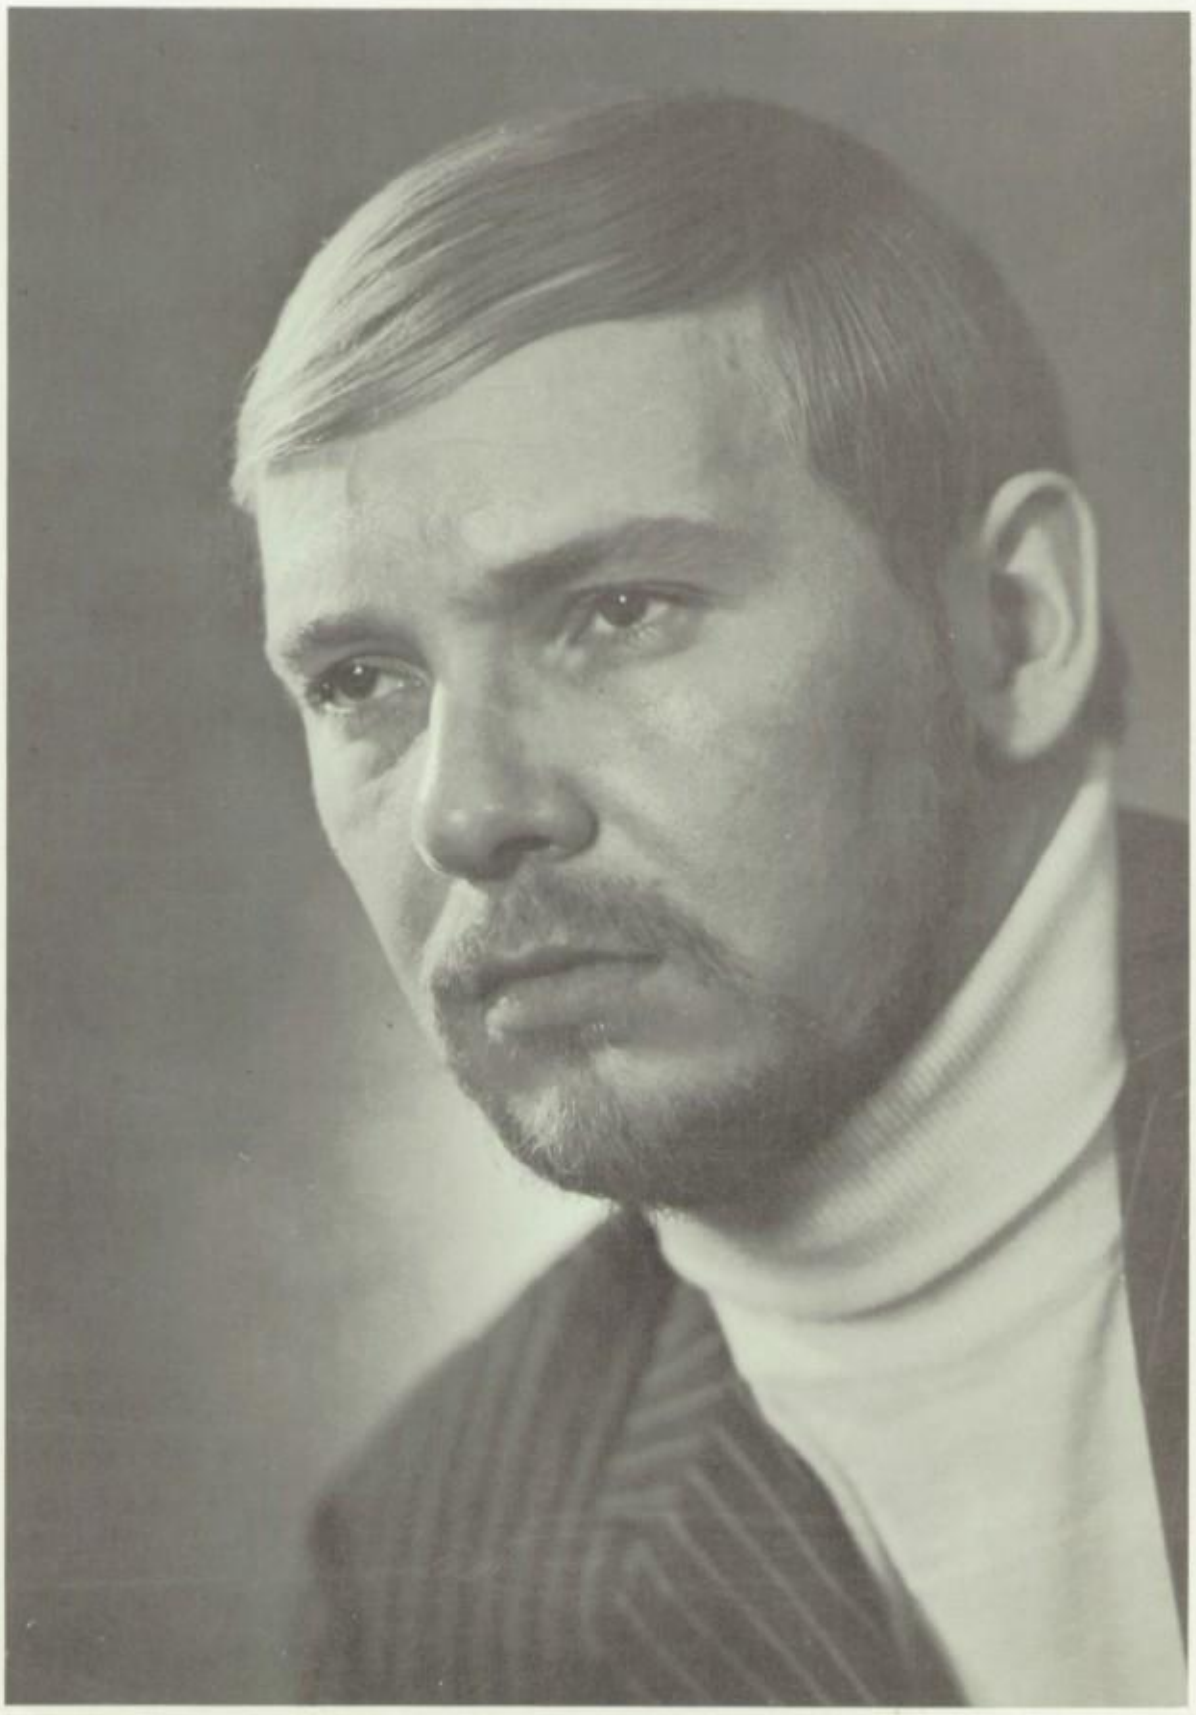
Dedication



Mr. Jon W. Morgan

It is a rewarding experience to study with a master teacher. He maintains a stimulating atmosphere of learning with his infinite knowledge of English, and the use of subtle wit. Whether in the midst of the madness of a play rehearsal or patiently leading a restless class through the tribulations of Odysseus, he is always ready to aid, advise, suggest, and encourage. The man is our friend, and we are grateful.

ADMINISTRATION

The Board Makes It All Possible

BOARD OF EDUCATION: Mr. Nyweide, Mr. Fergus, President; Mr. Willink, Mr. Gravink, Mr. Bailey (not pictured).

CLASS OF 1970

The world today is a rapidly changing sphere–being affected by tremendous forces for both good and evil. This is not new. The newness is that with our increasing technology of communication we are much more aware of the movements of the forces than we ever were before. Another phenomenon is that individuals have a much greater opportunity to make themselves heard than has been available in the preceding eons of time during which our Earth has existed.

You, the Class of 1970, are launching yourselves into this world. The school Administration and Faculty, your parents and friends have done their best to fit you for making the most of this opportunity. Now it is up to you.

Are you going to be outstanding? average? poor?–only you can answer this. We know that you have the ability to be outstanding influences for good.

Regardless of whether you strive to be doctors, dishwashers, housewives, farmers, clerks, bankers or any other of the countless vocations and professions, trust in God, work hard, enjoy yourself and hold your head high.

You will succeed–Good Luck!

Administration Carries It Through

Mr. Durwood Swanson—Elementary Coordinator, Mr. Hubert Brown—Supervising Principal, Mr. Frank Henry—Assistant Principal.

Mrs. Margaret Chelton—Secretary, Miss Eleanor Schruers—Secretary.

Pupil Power

The student body of CCS voice their opinions through their representatives in the student council. Under the supervision of Mr. Brown much is done for the betterment of this school.

President—John Williams, Vice-President—Brian Henry, Secretary—Debbie Odell, Treasurer—Linda Thompson, Advisor—Mr. Brown.

An Outlet of Ideas

The English language today exists in a variety of forms across the United States. The Texans are characterized by the drawl which they add to spice the language and hillbillies also have their own interpretations. But with whatever trimmings it may have, the English language is still recognized as a means of communication. Through this vehicle, people are able to express themselves. The poet, journalist, and author depend upon a pen and a knowledge of their language to put their ideas across to those around them. It is the objective of the English department, through the use of grammar courses, and the many forms of literature, to develop in the student a greater understanding and effective means he has with which to express himself.

The English department is divided as follows:

Miss Lydell and Mrs. Rickers–Seventh Grade English
Miss Gleason–Eighth Grade English
Mr. Thomas–Ninth and Tenth Grade English
Mr. Morgan–Eleventh and Twelfth Grade English

Only 39½ minutes to go.

He's cute, isn't he?

I wonder if I could get one of them.

Books! Books! Books! All sizes and kinds are to be found in the school's two libraries. Elementary pupils find entertainment reading in the wide variety of fiction books available in the elementary library. Mrs. Auer, the librarian, is always ready to help them in their selection and accomplishes the task of keeping the library running smoothly.

With its reservoir of 4,000 books and regular issues of 50 magazines and newspaper subscriptions the Jr. Sr. High School library provides pleasure reading of books and magazines. The use of the listening center for relaxation is a privilege earned by those students who have passing grades.

A Key to Contemporary Problems

Some say that we learn by other Peoples' mistakes but, as we turn back the pages of history we find ourselves making the same mistakes that others before us have made.

Helping the students turn these pages are Mr. Cook, Mr. Keys, and Mr. Russell. Through these teachers' combined efforts, students advance from an understanding of the beginnings of democracy, through the history of New York State, on to a course in world history and finally progressing to the point of considering the United States as a sovereign power and how it fits into the world picture as such a power.

Science and Math

The calm before the storm.

Physicists, chemists, biologists, mathematicians—a wide field of professions. They are all bound together in a common goal; the advancement of humanity through a better knowledge of the world in which we live.

Each succeeding generation has produced its group of dedicated men who have added to the storehouse of scientific knowledge.

Unlike the American Frontier, officially closed in 1890, the scientific frontier will never close due to the ever expanding nature of the field.

The ever expanding courses offered in science and mathematics in Clymer Central School also represents a frontier expanding with the need for a broader base in all areas of study. Teacher and student alike endeavor to develop a concentrated understanding of the many principles that are involved in these fields. With laboratory practice many of these principles are investigated further and students are encouraged to independently develop skills along lines of individual interest.

Recitation, lecture, laboratory practice and individual tutoring aid each student to develop as rapidly or slowly as is necessary for understanding.

Students majoring in science and mathematics, usually go on to college and move into many broad areas of the world of work. Still others will use these skills in the many and varied jobs obtained directly after high school or some form of technical training.

I was riding with Mr. Reagle when the accident happened.

If I'd only listened.

Now what do I do?

"What'd you say?"

Two languages, Latin, taught by Mrs. Legters, and French, under the direction of Miss Lydell, are offered to the students at C.C.S. These courses not only teach the language itself, but also give the students a view of the culture behind the language. Majors are offered to those completing three years of study in either language.

Who said Latin was dead?

I've heard of French typewriters but Latin, too?

The Romans never had it so hard.

Everybody up for exercises.

We switched to whiter, brighter Bold.

Everything but the Kitchen Sink

The home unit, important as the basis of society, is the subject explored in this school's Homemaking Department. In Home Economics, the students, under the direction of Mrs. Horton, learn of the responsibilities of the home and family. The arts of cooking and sewing are also studied. A major is given to those students completing three units in Home Economics courses.

Business Hours 9:00 AM to 3:30 PM

Learning the "tricks of the trade" are those students who, taught by Mr. Moses, pursue business courses. These courses orient the students in business procedures and practices. By completing three years in business courses, a student may acquire a major in Business Subjects.

A Picture Is Worth a Thousand Words

Art is the expression of man's joy in his work. The joy spreaders at C.C.S. are Mr. Snyder, who instructs high school art courses, and Mrs. Dearing, who instructs elementary and junior high classes.

Kill it before it spreads!

Good grief! What is that?

Lawrence Welk and his "bubbling" band.

Pucker Power!

"We got rhythm"

Man's thought expressed by melody is truly a valuable treasure. Mr. Cesari guides his students to the road of music by instruments while Mrs. Cook leads her groups in song.

Outside at Last

Physical fitness is stressed by daily activity under the direction of Coach Winner, Coach Hussion, and Mrs. Scott. The elementary students not only have recreation everyday, but also gym class twice a week. Three periods of gym are required for all high school students.

Since when has football been co-ed?

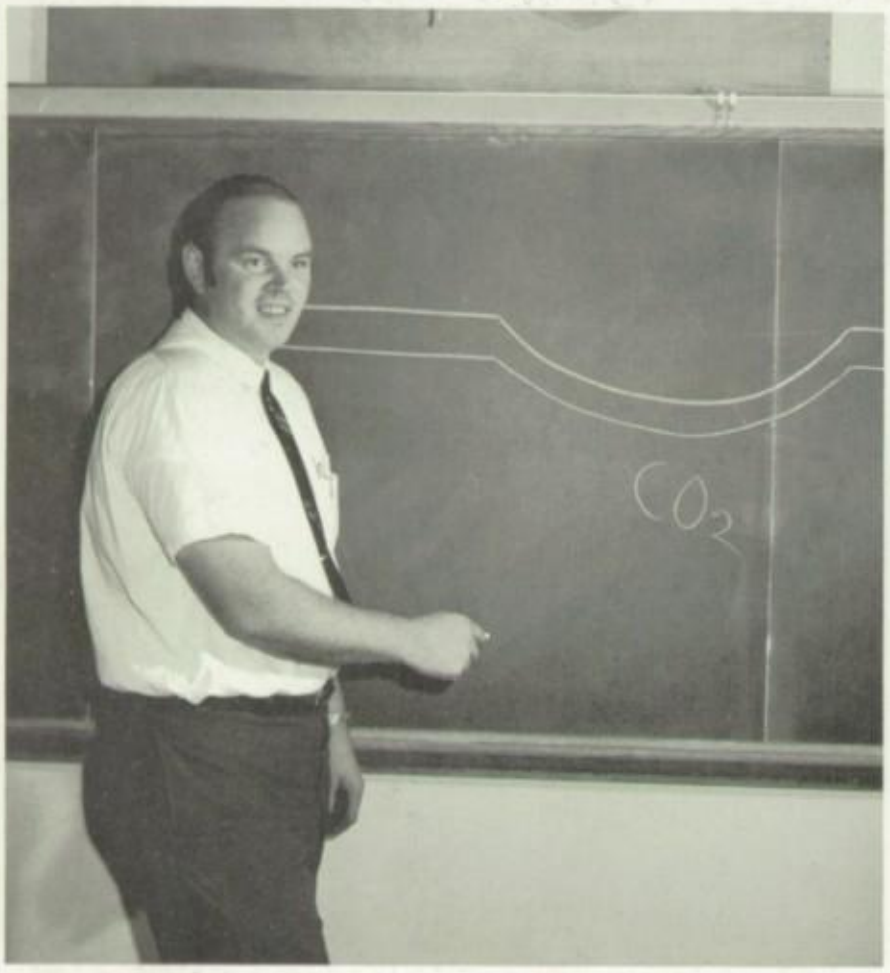
"Sharp chuters"

"Catch the ball this time, Coach!"

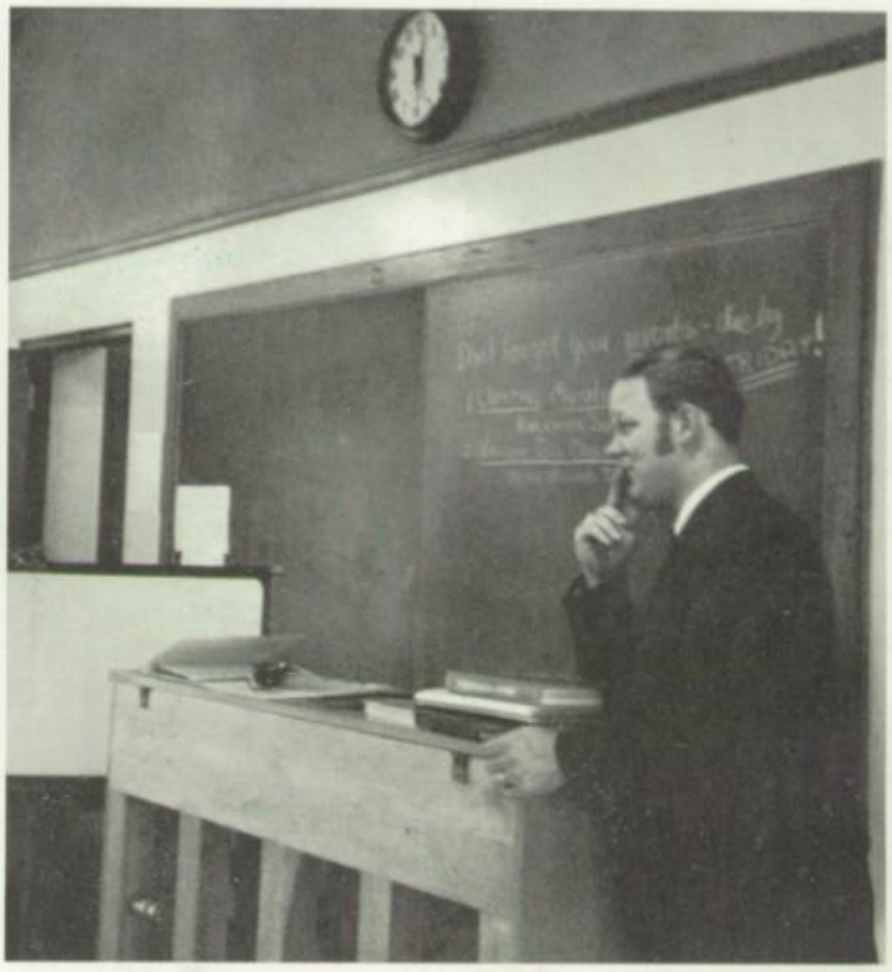
Machine over Man

Machines have their place in the classroom. Under the direction of Mr. Cornell, the Agriculture teacher, and Mr. Reagle, Shop Instructor, students learn the importance of machines, the techniques of operation, and how to apply their various skills to their own field.

Co2'd sheep??



Now who can I blame for the dent?



I thought that you told them apart by the length of their horns!!

One Step Ahead

Welding—The welding program is intended to develop skill in the use of tools, equipment, and practices commonly employed in the welding field.

Auto Body Repair—The Auto Body course deals with the fundamentals of metal, unit body and frame straightening, major collision repair, hardware repair and service, wheel suspension and alignment service.

Food Services—This course in Food Services emphasizes the basic skills needed in the preparation and serving of food. The fundamental principles of large quantity food service include organization and scheduling, portion control, table buffet, counter service, and sanitation.

Beauty Culture—A Beauty Culture course prepares the student interested in a license which is required to practice hairdressing and cosmetology in New York State.

Health—The Health Services training program acquaints the student with the nursing principles and practices necessary to assist the professionally trained nurse in providing good patient care.

Data Processing—Data Processing is the business field which uses computers and unit record equipment to very rapidly process information and give back the answers to statistical problems.

Special Services

Since all students at C.C.S. don't brush their teeth after every meal, we're very fortunate to have Mrs. Fair here to promote good dental hygiene.

What's better than a warm blanket? A cot in the nurse's office. Miss Lanston is always here to do anything she can to assist the student with his health problems. When an emergency arises, she is ready to administer first aid.

Mr. Ryder, our School Psychologist, meets once a week with students to counsel and aid them in their problems. The school psychologist serves as our outlet for student hang-ups and teacher information.

for Special Needs

Mrs. Nixdorf is an indispensable aid to the teachers. By correcting papers, preparing materials for class work and adding meal tickets, she gives the teachers the extra time needed to provide individual instruction.

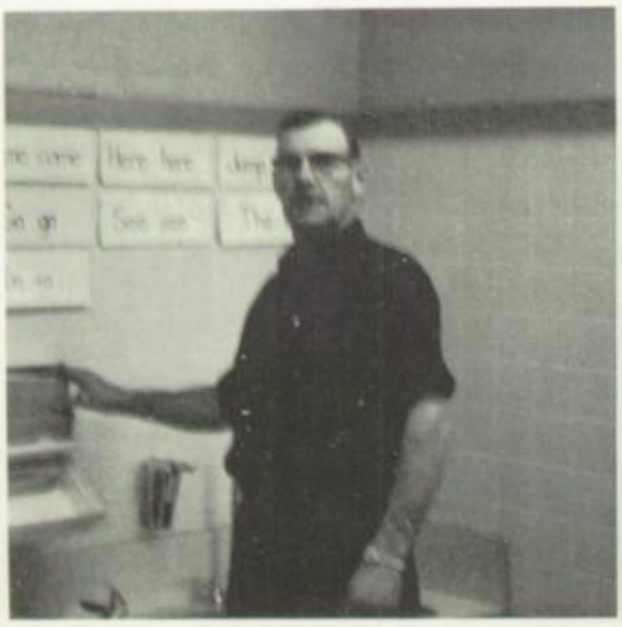
One of the most valuable services, especially to the high school students, is the counseling provided by Mr. Bensink. Whether planning your high school schedule, or struggling through a college application, Mr. Bensink is there to help and reassure you in your decisions.

Since some students require attention in the area of reading, special classes are taught by Mr. McMullin for their benefit. He attempts to improve the reading skills of the individual so that they are up to par with the rest of their class.

Since reading skills are not stressed in high school, Mrs. Legters works with those students who need improvement in this area. Vocabulary, comprehension, and increased reading Speed are three of her main objectives. Self-confidence built through oral reading is a major goal in her job.

"Charge!"

Time: 11:11 A.M. (click) 11:12 Result: mass migration to the cafeteria! Awaiting the chow line is a choice of two meals served to approximately 600 students daily. From the simplicity of hamburgers to the intricacies of the annual Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners, the cafeteria staff demonstrates its capabilities as it plans and prepares well balanced meals. Under the supervision of Irene Shields, the cafeteria staff, which includes Eleanor Fair, Doris Goggins, June Williams, Mildred Duink, and Vivian Fiet, carries out its duties each day of the school year.



The janitorial duties at the Findley Lake Elementary School are performed by Mr. Clarence Post.

The cafeteria staff, under the direction of Mrs. Doris Turner, prepares the meals for the five grades of children attending there.

A Big Responsibility

Safety, though not always practiced by the students, is of concern to our school. Mr. Warnshouse assumes the responsibility of safely aiding the students across the main street in front of the school.

The endless job of sweeping floors and maintaining the school's good appearance is often interrupted by extracurricular activities; play practices, ball games, and such evening programs as are scheduled throughout the year. Somehow, they tolerate this and manage to always have the school ready for any and all activities.

The day begins early for those men who have the reponsibility of seeing that the students arrive safely at school. As the teachers in the classrooms do, the bus drivers have to maintain order to prevent unnecessary accidents. Keeping the buses clean and in running order is also a part of their big job.

Individual Progress

The object of the Individual Progress class is precisely what its name implies. Mr. Stormer, the class instructor, strives to help the student work at a level for his individual ability. Each student develops his talents which he has in preparation for his future. The use of such machines as various types of saws and soldering equipment is taught. With the help of these instruments, the students use their creative talents to produce both decorative and useful home furnishings. These projects are also designed to develop the student's coordination and cooperation in group participation.

Throughout the centuries "AGE" has ruled high school. Age has always been synonymous with power. The Freshmen, Sophomores, and Juniors secretly look forward to the power that (they think) goes along with being a Senior. The Seniors look forward to that power, (which, by the way, they never seem to find). Forget it kids . . . enjoy your youth . . . "senioritis" doesn't exist . . . it's just an administrative plot to keep us in school until our Senior year.

"Let me out!"

"Kiss me, you fool."

"Keep the faith, baby!"

"Don't you dare get me wet!"

"Look out world! Here we come!"

STUDENT LIFE

With the Voice of Singing

The Chorus under the direction of Mrs. Cook rehearses every Tuesday and Thursday mornings. Their main objective is to prepare for the annual Christmas and Spring Concerts. With the blending of bass, tenor, alto, and soprano, the group strives for perfect balance and harmony. This all comes into use when some members of the chorus attend Sectional All State Chorus, the Chautauqua County Music Festival, and the Solo Festival. A new group which originated this year, "The Girls' Chorus", has a special interest in vocal music and takes part in the Christmas and Spring Concerts as a special ensemble.

Senior Band

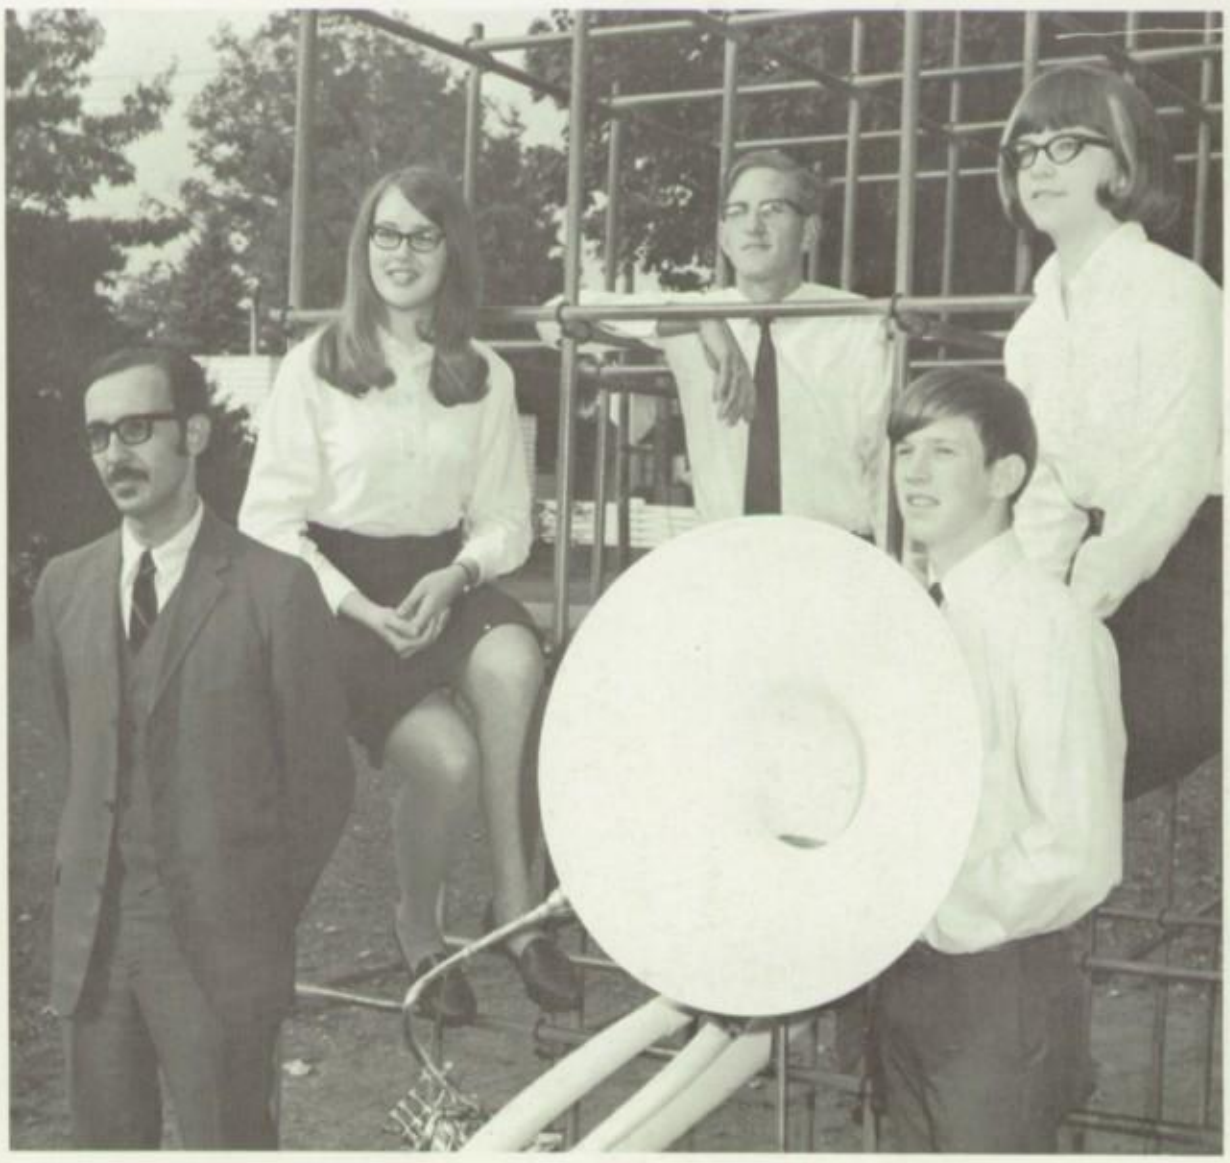
A One and a Two and a . . .

On Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, one may sit in Study Hall, room 16, and very clearly hear the Senior Band rehearsing in room 1. Under the direction of Mr. Caesari, the band members strive to blend the various tones of their instruments into a well-balanced unit. Throughout the year the band participates in concerts, assemblies, competition, parades, and as its final activity of the year, plays for the graduation exercises.

In the Junior Band, students of the lower grades interested in instrumental music gain experience and are given practice in learning to play as part of a group. This prepares them for becoming members of the Senior Band. Meeting on Tuesdays and Thursdays, the Junior Band rehearses for the annual Spring and Christmas Concerts which it also participates in.



Bridging the Gap

With its main project being the exchange of a student from another country, the American Field Service this year is hosting Dilson Riberio from Brazil.

Born on July 27, 1951, Dilson's home town in Brazil is Florianopolis. He attended the Instituto Estadual De Educacao and studied English, Portuguese, mathematics, physics and technical subjects while there. Dilson is making his home in the United States this year with Mr. and Mrs. John Gibbons of Findley Lake. His American brother is Ron Gibbons.

Some of Dilson's interests are music and religion. He enjoys listening to records and also likes to ski.

Under the leadership of Mr. Cesari, the club sponsored bake sales, calendar sales, Festival of Music, a birthday party for Dilson, dinners and dances.

The club's main function is to learn the customs and ideas of the visiting student while helping him to understand ours. In so-doing they "bridge the gap." Officers for the present year are:

President—Bill Klingensmith
Vice-President—Christine Stalhman
Secretary-Treasurer—Colleen Brightman

Inger Aberg, our exchange student from Gothenberg, Sweden, attended Clymer Central during the school year 1968-1969. She stayed at the Harold Porter residence in Findley Lake. At her graduation, she touched the hearts of all who attended with her sad farewell speech.

Education Is Their Business—Their Only Business

The C.C.S. Education Association is comprised of a group of elected teachers who represent the teaching staff of our school.

Their purposes are:

–to promote strong professional spirit and to arouse allegiance to a genuine spirit of professional ethics,

–to encourage every teacher to be a growing student of education and to promote a better understanding of educational problems,

–to promote the highest type of professional practices within the teaching profession,

–to cooperate with parent-teacher and other civic bodies having educational objectives and to aid in interpreting to the public problems, functions, and steady progress of the schools,

–to promote a spirit of cordiality among the members of the association,

Officers of the year:
President–Mrs. Thelma Heil
Vice President–Mr. Leonard Adams
Secretary–Miss Martha Lydell
Treasurer–Mrs. Beatrice Bensink

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Beginning the year with a membership of six pupils, the NHS increased its numbers by thirteen at the December 4th induction ceremony, its first activity of the year. Using the theme from the Wizard of Oz, the ceremony stressed the purpose of the Honor Society. These strive to create an enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service, to promote worthy leadership, and to encourage the development of character in the pupils of Clymer Central School. Under its new advisor, Mr. Bensink, the Honor Society has planned and carried out several other activities including a College Nite, December 29th. A U. S. map pin pointing the location of former students now in college and a record book of past and present members are two activities carried out by the National Honor Society. Officers elected for the year are:

President–Charles Mobilia
Vice President–Lynette Damcott
Secretary-Treasurer–Sara Robinson
Adviser–Mr. Bensink

Their Own Thing

Under the direction of co-editors Cindy Querreveld and Debbie Odell, the junior class published the annual paper, using the name of Our Own Thing. The paper contained items such as honor rolls, sports, class news, and special features. Several issues had special art work done by Dennis Boozel. The staff met each Tuesday and Thursday after school with their advisor, Mr. Thomas, to work on up-coming publications.

The Sound of Silence

Meet the SALs. These are the girls who volunteered to serve you in the library this year. Replacing the Libranauts, the Student Assistant Librarians (SALs), are at the desk daily, charging out books, checking them in, and carding and reshelving them for your use.

They also keep the circulation and fines records to date, check in new magazines and file back issues in the periodicals room for research and assignments.

The SALs have the authority to check library attendance, supervise the use of recordings in the listening station, and assist students and teachers in location materials. Some of the girls enjoy planning and executing bulletin boards, displays and contests when time permits.

The SALs are eligible for a library award upon completion of 150 hours of service and earn credit toward the Scholarship, Leadership, Service award. SALs are expected to stay off the failing list. There are no club meetings, so that the girls are free to join a club of their choice, and they may take two years, if they wish, to fulfill the service requirements.

Florence Nightengales of the Future

The Future Nurses' Club, under the direction of Miss Lanston, strives to help the high school girls who are interested in nursing to further understand the responsibilities and qualifications necessary in that profession. With the use of health films on cancer and other diseases, and demonstrations on first aid, the girls are given a broader view of this field as a whole. Discussions are also held among the girls in which each girl has a chance to ask questions, receive answers to her questions, and to add to the discussions anything she feels helpful to the others. Several of the girls have had a chance to visit various hospitals, including Millard Fillmore Hospital in Buffalo where they could see for themselves the duties of a nurse. Officers for the present year are:

President—Karen Nellis
Vice President—Sonya Beckerink
Secretary—Susie Wassink
Treasurer—Linda Shields
Adviser—Miss Lanston

Readin', Ritin', 'n Rit'metic

Insight into the profession of teaching is the purpose of the Future Teachers' Association. Among the activities of this club are hosting American Education Week, Open House, assisting elementary teachers by providing individual instruction for children needing remedial work, and sponsoring Teacher Recognition Day. Mrs. Dearing is the advisor of this group. Officers for this year are:

President—Cindy Querreveld
Vice-President—Julie Christensen
Secretary-Treasurer—Ginny Burkholder
Program Chairman—Claudia Lictus
Adviser—Mrs. Dearing

Videre Est Credere

Latin, the language of the ancients, still survives in the form of the Latin Club at C.C.S. Under the direction of Mrs. Legters, the club helps its members to develop a better understanding and enjoyment of ancient Roman life, customs and language. Its meetings consist of films, reports on ancient life and times, crosswork puzzles, and games including the ancient Roman game, Rota. A money raising project was the sale of cupcakes. The group also visited an Italian restaurant for a dinner. Present officers are:

President–Sandy Post
Vice President–Michael Fardink
Secretary-Treasurer–Peggy Briggs
Adviser–Mrs. Legters

C'est la Vie!

To learn more about French people and their culture is the major purpose of the French Club, under the direction of Miss Lydell.

During their meetings they play word games, such as "gougenheim", and French bingo. They have also viewed slides of Miss Lydell's trips to France with the hopes that they too, may someday visit that country. Officers for the current year are:

President–Robin Redlecki
Vice President–Jon Babcock
Secretary–Debbie Klingensmith
Treasurer–Sylvia TeWinkle
Adviser–Miss Lydell

Betty Crockers of Tomorrow

To promote a growing appreciation of the joys and satisfactions of homemaking is one of the purposes of the Future Homemakers of America club, under the direction of Mrs. Horton.

The main function of this organization is to foster the development of creative leadership in home and community life.

This year, for the first time, the future homemakers are affiliated with the nationwide organization.

Included in their program this year are various inspiring filmstrips and interesting speakers. Officers for this year are:

President–Cindy Carris
Vice President–Mary Donnell
Secretary–Wilma Boerst
Treasurer–Janet Howard
Advisor–Mrs. Horton

The Boys in Blue

Developing competent, aggressive, rural leadership and participating in the improvement of agriculture–this is the purpose of the Future Farmers of America. This organization, under the leadership of Mr. Cornell, carries out many activities throughout the year. These include the FFA Jamboree and the FFA Banquet. Decorating the community at Christmas, assisting in the March of Dimes Campaign, and representing the school in the Tulip Festival are but a few of the services which the FFA provides for the community. The FFA holds 8 regular and night meetings, 2 night recreation meetings and participates in county, state, and national meetings. Recognizing those boys that have made outstanding contributions to the organization and acquainting the public with the organization is the main goal of the Future Farmers of America.

Chapter Sweetheart–Pam Porter
Advisor–Mr. Cornell

Sink or Swim

The Swim Club, under the direction of Mr. Snyder and Mr. Winner studies Junior Life Saving Methods and learns personal safety in the water. They also learn what a non-swimmer or limited swimmer can do to aid a drowning victim or victims needing first aid.

During the summer, the swim club helps in the Summer Swimming Program at Findley Lake. Meeting programs consist of films on first aid and life saving and speakers. One speaker particularly liked by the group was Mr. Eugene Madden, Red Cross Swimming Director.

President—Dianne Penna
Vice President—Sally Eliason
Secretary-Treasurer—John Heil

Spunk, Spirit, Sportsmanship

The main object of this club is to stress the importance of the Norm Becker Sportsmanship Award. They print and sell programs at every home game to explain the award and list the names of both teams' players.

Under the direction of Mrs. Scott and Coach Winner, the Athletic Association undertook various projects through-out the year. The club sponsored dances after every home game this basketball season.

"George Washington Slept Here"

The very house where George Washington slept! How exciting! But apparently Martha wasn't much of a housekeeper. Holes in the roof, cows in the once-stylish kitchen, no running water, and worst of all, no bathrooms. Mr. Fuller, the new owner of this magnificent mansion, had to admit to Mrs. Fuller, very reluctant about the whole thing, that a little work would need to be done that summer. And what a summer that turned out to be! An elopement almost takes place between Madge Fuller and Clayton Evans, the debonair movie actor. And Uncle Stanley, who everyone thought to be extremely wealthy, comes to visit and reveals that he doesn't have a cent. To top things off, Raymond, the brat, comes to spend the summer with his aunt and uncle. As the summer drew to a close, the Fullers were about to lose the house which they had grown to love because of the large sum of money they had spent on restoring it. But it all works out in the end—Uncle Stanley comes through to help save the house where George Washington slept.

"You Can't Take It with You"

Was it a mad house? No, just the family of Martin Vanderhof, including Penelope, his daughter, a playwright because a typewriter was once delivered to the house by mistake; Paul, Penny's husband, who manufactures fireworks; and Essie, their daughter, who has taken dancing lessons for eight years, but according to her Russian dancing teacher, Mr. Kolenkhov, "She stinks." Also included in the hulabaloo is Mr DePinna, who delivered the ice one day and just stayed. The love interest entered the picture as Tony Kirby, the son of the Mr. Percival Kirby of Wall Street, showed an interest in Alice Sycamore, the granddaughter of Mr. Vanderhof. When their engagement was announced, it was finally time for the two families to meet. And what a meeting it was! It ended in an overnight visit to the local jail. But true to the saying "Love conquers all", the play closed with a reconciliation between the two families and a marriage in the planning.

Fanfare, Flowers, and Frills

"May Queen 1969, Mary Lou Foster".

May 23rd, 1969 dawned sunny and bright, allowing the seniors to have their annual May Day Festivities outside. The trumpets sounded and the organ began as the arch-bearers with their flowery burden began the processional. The senior girls came next and proceeded to the platform around the throne which was beautifully decorated with lilacs. Next came the flower girls, dropping petals from their baskets for Her Majesty to walk on. Then the moment everyone had been waiting for—Queen Mary proceeded down the petal strewn path, under the arches, and ascended to her throne. Here she was given a blossom-covered foot-stool by the freshman class representative, adorned with a necklace of flowers by the sophomore class representative, and crowned with a wreath of roses by the junior class representative. After being presented with these gifts, the fourth grade girls entertained Her Royal Majesty by wind-ing the Maypole.

Happiness Is . . .

On May 23 and 24 the annual Tulip Festival expressed views on happiness through the parade, floats, window displays, and evening programs. The parade was highlighted by bands and floats with the Grand Prize awarded to the R.C.Y.F. of Abbe Reformed Church. The theme of this inspiring float was "Happiness is–Christ in Your Heart." The Saturday evening program climaxed the festivals' activities with the crowning of the 1969 Queen, Linda Thompson by the 1968 Queen, Mary Jane Hinsdale. The new court consists of Debbie Williams, first runner-up, and Becki Hinsdale, second runner-up. Miss Congeniality, voted by the candidates, was Virginia Cady.

Love Is Blue

June 6, 1969

A romantic atmosphere conveying the theme "Love is Blue" prevailed over the gayly decorated Peek-n-Peak for the annual prom. Candlelight and clouds of blue angel hair added to the atmosphere for the buffet dinner, followed by dancing to the music of the Neil Charles Orchestra. The theme song, along with other selections, was sung by The Tempo. The royal couples, Randy Burkholder and Ginny Cady, as king and queen; and Chuck Mobilia and Kathy Sekura, as prince and princess, were crowned later in the evening by Debbie Williams and Judy McCray.

The mood was then changed from formal to casual as the cafeteria was transformed into a discotheque." A live band was featured, complete with psychedelic lighting! We all agree unanimously, "It was a real blast!"

"These shoes weren't made for walking."

"Hick!"

But I don't like spinach!

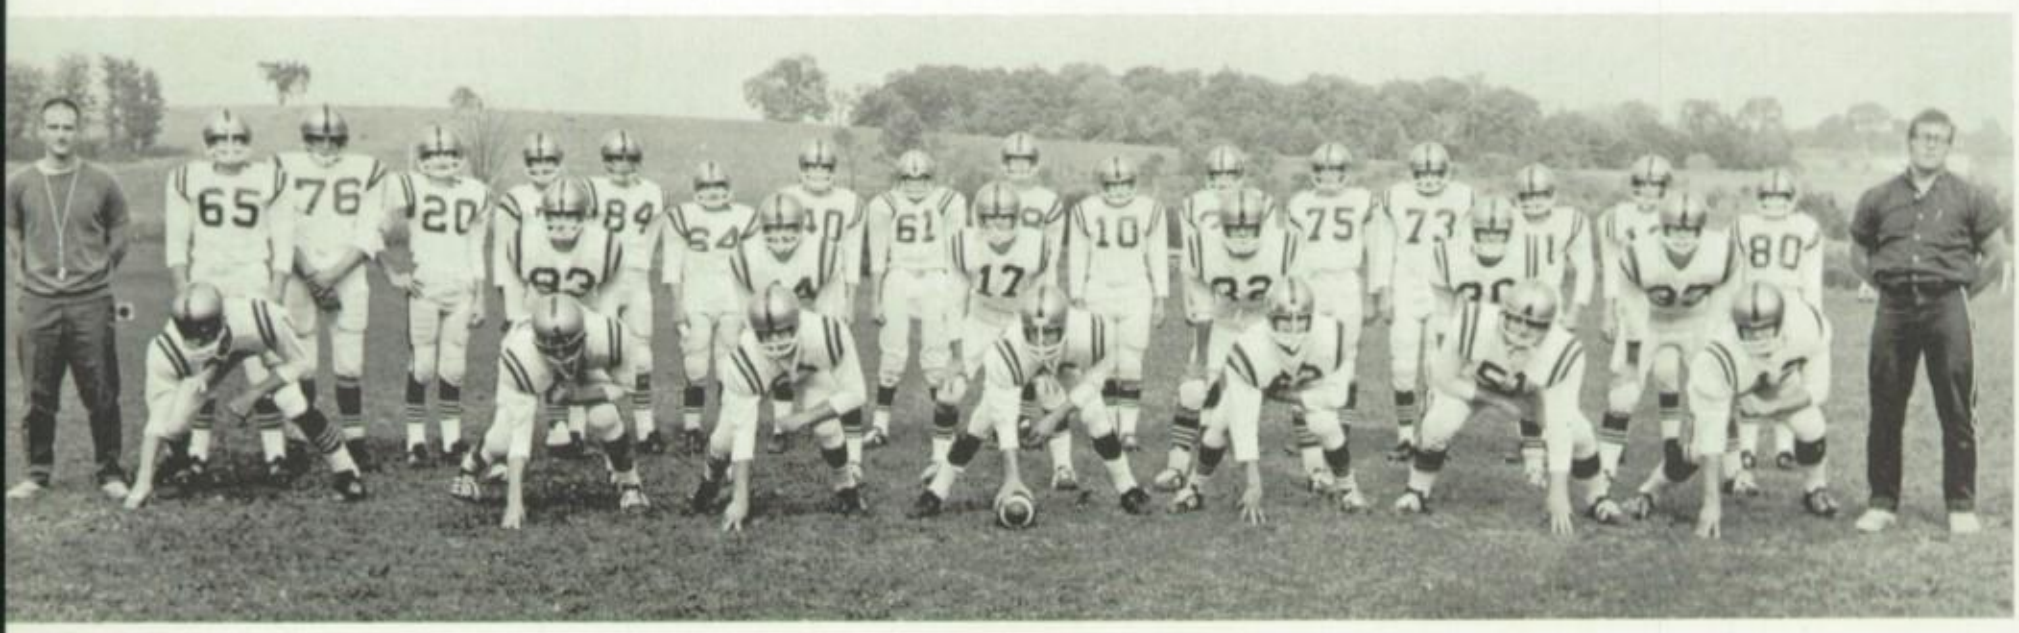
Football '69



Varsity Football

Again this year the Clymer Pirates preserved a winning tradition, which has been characteristic of Clymer in the past few years. Finishing last year with a record of 6 wins and 2 losses and a tie for third place in league competition, the goal of the 1969 ball club was set to surpass the record of the previous season. The team got off to a slow start, being defeated by Brocton and Panama, but under the leadership of a new coach, Phil Hussion, the Pirates came back to win 4 straight and tie Pine Valley 0-0 in one of the toughest defensive games played all year. The team ended up with a creditable record of 4-2-1 and second place in the league.

Randy Weeks and Bruce Walford were named to the All Vine Conference team with Bruce at Defensive tackle and randy at offensive halfback.

In their world of splits, cartwheels, and various jumps, the cheerleaders' purpose is to create school spirit, interest and sportsmanship in the school's activities. They were also kept busy thinking up surprising posters and pep meetings.

Caught between minutes of "unseasickness."

On June 24, 1969 eight very excited girls boarded a plane to take a dream trip to London, Paris, and St. Malo. The merry voyagers included; Brooke Markham, Linda Molk, Linda Sheilds, Sue Querreveld, Charlotte Emery, Judy Lookenhouse, Jane Brown, and Debbie Williams. Miss Lydell served as counselor to this "giggling group" on a tour sponsored by the Foreign Study League, an organization that gives high school students the opportunity to "Go European."

Graduation, June 20, 1969

"Would you like to step outside and repeat that?"

"Sorry girls, I'm married."

"What he doesn't know won't hurt him."

"Those darn thorns!"

"Take it with your right and shake with your left, I think!"

"Have you heard about Terry and Pat???"

"Leader of the pack."

"Come alive."

They Tried Harder

Miss Wood graduated from Sherman Teacher's Training Class. She taught three years then went to Fredonia Normal School where she graduated in 1921. Later she earned extra credit at the Fredonia State Teacher's College.

Miss Wood started her teaching career in Mr. Connelly's District. She spent seventeen years teaching in one room rural schools where it was possible to have all eight grades. Miss Wood can recall having eight grades once for a period of three months or so.

The past 23 years she has taught 2nd grade in Clymer Central School.

Travel is included in her future plans.

Every year the American Legion Junior Auxiliary sponsors one junior girl who will attend Girls' State. This is held annually at SUNY at Albany. The delegate for June 1969 was Linda Thompson. Girls' State provides an opportunity for about 300 girls from across the state to learn more about their government and the people who run it.

The same opportunity is offered Junior boys through Boys' State. The representative for the Clymer American Legion Post was Dale Vrooman and the delegate from the Findley Lake American Legion Post was David Wilcox. Boys' State is held annually at Morrisville Agr. and Tech.

The APSL trophy award was presented to the school this year for outstanding achievement on the annual APSL tests by its students. Upon the winning of three pins, awarded to students with scores of 115 and over, the school is given a trophy in honor of those students who have made this outstanding achievement. The students earning pins and consequently the trophy are: Ruth Mobilia
Kathy Clawson
Chuck Mobilia

While in eighth grade, John Heil took part in the Buffalo Evening News Spelling Contest. Because he was the winner in our school he received a Webster's Dictionary. John also represented Chautauqua County in the Western New York Regionals at Buffalo.

Mrs. Stryker went to Fredonia Normal School for three years and then attended the University of Minnesota. After graduating she did private tutoring on Long Island for five years. She then taught in Minnesota for three years and substituted there for one year. For the past 16 years she has taught school in Clymer.

Mrs. Stryker enjoys working with children of the 4th and 5th grade age because they are still very impressionable at this early age. Her greatest joy is to have one child make an extraordinary gain.

Traveling and reading are included in her future plans.

Recipients of the New York State Regents Scholarship, 1969-70, were:
Linda Thompson John Williams
John Griffin
Debbie Williams Lynette Damcott
(alternates)

Clymer's tennis team under the coaching of Mr. Russell took the Vine Conference Championship. Team members were:

George Legters
Dave Wilcox
Bruce Hutton
Lloyd Porter
Bill Eliason
Ron Gibbons
Brian Henry

For the first time in thirteen years, the Clymer Pirates Varsity Basketball team won the Vine Chautauqua County Class C League Championship. Coach Dave Ball's team included:

Dan Bemis
John Griffin
Rick Kress
Ted Mathews
Dale Vrooman
Randy Weeks
Larry Duink
Warren Henry
Jack Loomis
Chuck Mobilia
Scott Warnshouse
Dave Wilcox

The Norman G. Becker Memorial Basketball Award for sportsmanship was established by the Chautauqua District Board No. 39 of the International Association of Approved Basketball Officials.

The Award honors the long-time Chautauqua Central School coach, athletic director, and high-ranking state athletic association official for many years, Mr. Becker.

The Award was presented to Clymer Central School on the basis of sportsmanship displayed by players, coaching staff, and spectators during the school year, 1968-69.

Brian Bensink participated in the Clymer Central School Tractor Operators Contest in May, 1969 and placed first. He also participated in the Chautauqua County 4-H Tractor Operators program and in that contest placed first. Following this, he represented Chautauqua County at the New York State Fair in Syracuse. Brian placed 4th in this competition. The contest and program included obstacle course maneuvers, mechanical operation and maintenance of the tractor and other pieces of equipment.
